

"SIGNS" goes north

'Signs' Goes North project helps newly arrived refugees and migrants in the cities of Reykjavik (Iceland), Rotterdam (The Netherlands), Söderhamn and Bollnäs (Sweden) and Vejle (Denmark) to adapt to their new surroundings and gain new knowledge and experience. The project seeks to answer newcomers' urgent needs of basic level of understanding the place, learning the basics about language of communication and culture in the new city of arrival. The materials developed by the project are based on the innovative Signs methodology using city signs to provide an easy, visual and clear way to promote language and culture, offering informal learning in 'real life' situations. The project is funded under the Erasmus+ programme of the European Union for the period 2017-2019.

Explore Reykjavik in Iceland, Rotterdam in The Netherlands, Söderhamn and Bollnäs in Sweden and Vejle in Denmark by reading the Signs books! Learn more about the cities, their people and their language and culture by watching the stories of new and oldcomers in the Signs movies!
